

Apprise[®] ERP for Food Distributors

Apprise ERP is a single, integrated solution designed to meet all your food distribution business needs. Our solution offers comprehensive tools to help you streamline your operations and enhance business performance. With Apprise ERP, you can meet customer needs and regulatory compliance requirements while maximising your chain efficiency and improving your business decisions.

Manage compliance regulations

Full forward and backward lot traceability for improved efficiency, safety and reduced business risk. Gain full expiration date visibility no matter where your products are in the supply chain. Our lot audit trail enables you to view who updated lot information throughout its lifecycle. Each lot number can be tracked by shelf life, born on date, manufacturer lots number and much more. Plus, lot numbers can be assigned to containers so they are automatically assigned to inventory upon its arrival for more efficient processing.

Make better business decisions

Apprise ERP includes comprehensive and intuitive reporting functionality to help you make faster and better decisions, which can lead to increased revenues and lowered costs. Our business intelligence is optimised for the desktop and mobile devices, so your executive team and sales force can always access your business information. And real-time updates ensure everybody is working off of the same, current information. Access our executive dashboard to view, graph, compare and filter the key performance indicators most important to your business.

Maximise supply chain efficiency

Apprise ERP gives you maximum efficiency and control to purchase from multiple suppliers, trade in multiple currencies, and manage inventory across multiple warehouses. Implement various warehouse tools, such as wireless technology, to automate data collection, reduce warehouse errors, and capitalise on improved picking and labour efficiencies. Apprise ERP is flexible enough to enable you to pick products according to your business rules, whether by product, order number, customer name or other criteria. Our fully integrated software enables you to automate and optimise route scheduling and fleet delivery. Industry specific tools help you manage fuel costs and driver efficiency, while providing superior service to your customers.

Better manage products through your entire supply chain, from importing to warehouse management to customer delivery.
